REGISTER NOW FOR TWO NEW PROGRAMS!

THE SPECTRUM OF EATING DISORDERS: OBESITY, ANOREXIA AND BULIMIA

Many parents and health professionals believe that eating disorders are only identified in adolescence. Issues with nutrition, self-esteem, and eating habits begin in preschool, and can be incorporated into school-based education and health screenings in elementary, middle and high school, as well as health education in primary care settings.

This workshop will:

- Review statistics related to obesity, anorexia and bulimia
- Focus on the USDA food pyramid for children
- Examine current trends related to childhood obesity
